

STARRY POSSIBILITIES

By Francisca Sánchez, © 2015

why not
break the isolation
use the silvered shards to build relation ships that connect in the night
make waves that travel
across oceans
to knock down walls
and sweep away the boxes that constrain our thinking

get outside of ourselves and listen to the silence of voices that tremble trapped in our throats
longing for a stage
a mic
a poem
a dance

if we are creativity
at our core
then why not embrace the sky

why not
create a constellation of starry possibilities

why not
re-member our histories and our songs

why not
live like people are following

why not
take a chance
step off the edge
and fall finally fully

into our destiny