3rd Annual Creativity at the Core Summer Institute
Join us at the Santa Clara County Office of Education in San Jose

California County Superintendents Educational Services Association Arts Initiative
Please join us on July 26, 27, and 28, 2017 at the Santa Clara County Office of Education in San Jose for an exciting 3-day institute that will focus on arts learning and California State Standards. Hear from educational leaders, teaching artists, arts specialists, and inspirational speakers from across the state as they provide hands-on learning opportunities focused on a suite of CCSESA’s new professional learning modules developed by County Offices of Education and Arts Partner Organization Leaders.

Here are some of the outcomes of the Creativity at the Core Summer Institute:

- Deepen subject matter knowledge in dance, music, theatre, visual arts, and media arts and the VAPA Standards and Framework focused on these key component strands: artistic perception, creative expression, cultural and historical context, aesthetic valuing, and connections, applications, and relationships.
- Explore concrete strategies and approaches that you can immediately take back to your organization that deepen student learning and engagement.
- Engage in powerful opportunities that will transform your practice and your site.
- Hear about the new Arts Education Data Project spearheaded by California Department of Education and CREATE CA.
- Experience many exciting ways to expand and strengthen arts learning in the classroom aligned to California State Standards, including Common Core.
- Find new ways to open doors of creativity and innovation in the classroom to promote 21st century academic achievement.
- Learn about STEAM and Career Technical Education models of education.
- Learn strategies to engage English language learners and inspire student voice.
- Network with educators and leaders from across California!

Sponsored by the California County Superintendents Educational Services Association (CCSESA) Arts Initiative in partnership with CREATE CA, the California Department of Education, and Santa Clara County Office of Education-Artspiration.
Who should attend?
K-University teachers, administrators, curriculum directors, artist educators, arts leaders, pre-service teachers, arts specialists, parents, and school board members.
About the Summer Institute
There will be two major strands within the institute:

Administrative Strand: This strand is designed for administrators and leaders who would like to plan and implement professional learning opportunities focused on arts and Common Core State Standards. This interactive strand will allow you to discuss professional learning opportunities and how this might work with your staff and/or others that you serve.

Teacher Strand: This strand is designed for educators who would like to gather new approaches and strategies, for their students. This strand will offer many hands-on approaches that will allow you to experience content so that you will be able to translate it into your specific learning environment.

CCSESA Arts Initiative  •  The California County Superintendents Educational Services Association supports the belief that every student needs a full, comprehensive curriculum. A high-quality education in the arts, including the subject areas of dance, music, theatre, and the visual/media arts is an integral component of a comprehensive curriculum. CCSESA works at the national, state, regional, county, and local levels to promote sequential, standards-based arts education pre-K - 12. CCSESA Statewide Arts Initiative continues to provide professional learning and curriculum support to assist school districts and county offices of education in implementing quality arts learning in CA classrooms. To learn more about CCSESA Arts Initiative go to: www.ccsesaarts.org

CCSESA Regional Arts Leads and the State Visual and Performing Arts Steering Committee  •
Through CCSESA, County Superintendents of Schools have developed a regional structure and statewide organization to deliver high quality educational support services to every district and community in the state. Through a system of 11 service regions, CCSESA provides the organizational mechanism for the 58 County Superintendents of Schools to design and implement statewide programs to identify and promote quality, cost-effective, educational practices and services, and provide support to school districts. This infrastructure continues to be a viable mechanism to build capacity in the state for arts education and to build support for implementing a full curriculum that includes the visual and performing arts. The Regional Arts Leads serve as the Visual and Performing Arts (VAPA) Subcommittee of the Curriculum and Instruction Steering Committee (CISC) and as designated Regional Leads for the CCSESA Statewide Arts Initiative. The current Co-chairs of the VAPA Subcommittee are Dr. Gary Waddell, Deputy Superintendent of San Mateo County Office of Education and Lisa Tiwater, Assistant Superintendent, Stanislaus County Office of Education.

Artspiration  •  Artspiration is a Santa Clara County Office of Education Initiative supporting professional development, advocacy, and student engagement in the visual and performing arts. It’s a community-backed movement to return creativity and innovation to our students through the arts, with strategies developed by a team of administrators, teachers, parents, students, artists and community leaders. For a child, acting in a school play can mean fantasy, a new persona and travel to an imaginary, distant land. But by participating in the arts, the student is also preparing for the challenges of a near, very real world: a 21st century global marketplace that requires creativity, critical thinking, collaboration, communication and problem solving. Theatre, music, visual arts and dance all cultivate this imperative collection of skills – the very abilities that employers currently report are most lacking in high school graduates. And that is why the Santa Clara County Office of Education continues its mission to ensure that every student in the county has access to quality arts in all forms as part of a comprehensive education that sparks curiosity, creativity and joy. CREATE CA • CREATE CA is a coalition of dedicated and innovative leaders who understand that together we have the power to create lasting change for every California student. CREATE CA’s mission is to ensure ALL students are able to reach their full potential by advancing an education model that promotes creativity and the arts for the workforce of tomorrow. To CREATE CA believes:

• All California students deserve the same access to a high quality arts education.
• An arts education is vital to California’s robust, globally competitive, creative economy.
• Every child deserves the same opportunities to be a vital part of a creative workforce.
• The arts are important for lifelong learning, the development of 21st century skills and college and career readiness.
• NOW is the time for the resurgence and expansion of arts instruction in California’s public schools.

California Department of Education • The California Department of Education continues to support visual and performing arts at all levels. Arts Consultants Jack Mitchell, Educational Programs Consultant Arts, Media, and Entertainment Visual and Performing Arts, Secondary and Mary Rice, K-8 Arts Consultant Literacy, History, and Arts Leadership Office, lead many efforts to support and strengthen arts education in California schools. These efforts include VAPA web pages with guidance on policy and implementation, common core connections, and state and national resources for planning an effective arts education program. The CDE also developed a professional learning module, Content Literacy for Technical Subjects, housed on https://mydigitalchalkboard.org which provides in depth interactive activities on common core and arts connections for educators to use individually or in group settings. Additionally, CDE assists in advocacy efforts for legislation on arts standards revision and credentialing. Other areas of CDE involvement include arts assessment, partnership with the National Arts Education Data Project, strategic arts planning, and Gold Ribbon Schools, Exemplary Arts Awards selection.

Creativity at the Core

OUR GOAL: To make visible and accessible paths to 21st century learning for California’s diverse learners through a focus on powerful arts teaching and learning that builds on and supports learning across the curriculum. The CCSESA Arts Initiative launched a new program, Creativity at the Core, with support from The California Arts Council and The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation. Regional teams from across the state including Regional Arts Leads from county offices of education and Arts Organization Partner Leads from key arts organizations, along with other partners, developed professional learning modules that connect arts learning in dance, music, theatre, and visual/media arts to California State Standards. The California Arts Council (CAC), the California Department of Education (CDE), The California Association for Bilingual Education (CABE), CREATE CA, and Loyola Marymount University (LMU) partnered with CCSESA in the development of the Creativity at the Core initiative.

We know the many benefits of arts education and creativity in the classroom. Perhaps one of the most important benefits is that creative education cultivates deeper learning and builds multiple kinds of literacy including reasoning, imagining, problem solving, dexterity and many unique forms of expression. The visual and performing arts provide us many lenses to view history, culture, and the world around us. We understand that the creative work force is looking for innovative leaders to solve complex problems. As we explore how creativity connects with arts learning, Common Core standards, and other curricular areas, we acknowledge the value of arts learning both as courses of study as defined by our state Ed Code, but also as vital subjects that connect across the curriculum — opening up many interdisciplinary opportunities for connections, relationships, and applications. We hope you will be able to join us for this incredible professional learning opportunity.
